

Rev. R. McLaren
Is Church Speaker

Rev. R. McLaren, of Naramata, B.C., training school, was guest speaker at St. Paul's and Shady Creek churches last Sunday. He told a most interesting story of the growth of the training school at Naramata for lay leaders, the first of its kind in the United church. He traced its growth from the turning of the first sod to the present plant of $125,000. During student days Rev. McLaren was associated with Dr. A. K. McMinn, of Deep Cove, formerly of Edmonton. The latter was guest speaker at the evening service. To "eat like a bird" would mean to eat one's own weight in food every day.

KEATING

Miss Tena Anderson, Telegraph Road, gave a tea last Wednesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Lovejoy and her son Charles, who recently arrived from England to stay with her mother, Mrs. East, Telegraph Road. The invited guests were: Mrs. Whiteley, Mrs. Steele, Mrs. D. A. Patterson, Mrs. Hafer, Mrs. L. A. Patterson, Mrs. East, Mrs. T. Michell and Yvonne Michell.

The South Saanich Women's Institute held their monthly meeting in the Institute Hall on Thursday evening. Motion pictures were shown by Mr. Gordon, from the welfare department. Plans were completed to hold a 500 card party on March 2, to raise funds for repairs on the hall. Arrangements were also made to have the annual spring tea and bazaar on April 11. A clean-up bee of the hall will be held on April 4 and members are to bring their own lunch. Members were asked to bring their favorite meat casserole recipes to the next meeting for the Institute cook book, which will be published later. Refreshments were served later by the hostesses, Mrs. Sutherland, Mrs. S. Pickles and Miss Dale Sutherland.

The Shady Creek United church will hold a social evening next Monday evening in the church hall. Travel films will be shown and refreshments served later in the evening.

Thursday evening was the monthly meeting of the South Saanich Farmers' Institute in the Institute Hall. Plans were completed for a 50 card party on March 2. An interesting talk was given by Mr. Johnson, supervisor of Farmers' Institutes, who is also secretary to the B.C. Fair Association. Coffee was served after all the business was completed.

A 500 card party was held in the Institute Hall on Friday evening. There were six tables, and prizes were won by Mr. Facey and Mr. Hoole. Refreshments were served to complete the evening.

STUDENT IS HONORED

Central Saanich R.C.A.F. veteran now studying at Cambridge University, in England, John Huntley Young, has been awarded a fellowship by the Canadian Social Science Research Council, it was announced last week. He was one of 74 applicants for the 16 fellowships awarded.

Mr. Young, who is 27 years of age, is the son of John J. Young, Central Saanich Road. A former student of Mount Newton high school, Victoria College and Queen's University, Mr. Young is studying for his doctorate. He hopes to complete his studies at Harvard.

The fellowship carries a grant of between $1,000 and $1,200.

Some Cases Of 'Flu' In District

In view of the recent ravages of influenza in Britain and other European countries greater awareness of the incidence of the complaint exists in this country. Although incidence of influenza in this area has not yet exceeded the normal level for the time of the year, there is no indication that this state of affairs may obtain for an indefinite period.

As a precautionary measure, some residents are having vaccine administered by their physicians. Adequate supplies of this vaccine are available.

At Rest Haven hospital, some cases are under treatment, according to C. M. Crawford, hospital administrator.

CIVIL DEFENCE

More than 117,000 men and women have now joined Britain's Civil Defence and allied services. The Civil Defence Corps itself consists of 60,704 men and 38,100 women.

LAST RITES FOR PIONEER LADY OF SAANICH

A large gathering of relatives and friends attended the impressive last rites on Thursday, Feb. 15, for Emily Beatrice Anderson, of West Saanich Road, prominent pioneer and active figure in the social life of West Saanich for many years.

The funeral service took place in the McCall Funeral Chapel, when Rev. William Allen officiated. The 23rd Psalm was sung with organ accompaniment by J. C. Sutherland. Interment followed at the cemetery of St. Michael's church, West Saanich.

Mrs. Anderson passed away in Victoria on Feb. 10. Born in Lincoln, England, in 1876, she was 74 years of age. She came to Victoria at the age of seven, with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jenkins. She was educated at Rock Bay and Girls' Central schools.

In 1896 she married Andrew R. Anderson in St. Barnabas' church, Victoria. The late Rev. Belton Haslam was the officiating minister. Before Saanich Municipality was incorporated Mr. and Mrs. Anderson took up residence there. They have lived in Saanich since.

Life Membership
More than 30 years ago Mrs. Anderson joined the Brentwood Women's Institute. On Aug. 15, 1950, she was honored with a provincial life membership in the W.I. of British Columbia. As an active member of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society she competed for many years in annual competitions. Her death leaves a vacancy on the board of directors of the society.

She is survived by her husband and daughter, Jean, at home; three sons, Rennie C., Old West Road, Albert, in Nanaimo, and Roy, in Edmonton; ten grandchildren and two great-grandchildren, also three sisters and four brothers.

An Impressive International Delegation

A strong delegation of Saanich Peninsula bulb growers, headed by Capt. Chas. Wilson, of Saanichton, president of the B.C. Bulb Growers' Federation, is leaving by plane on Monday for Seattle to attend the North Western Bulb Growers' Association short course in bulb growing.

Among the party are the following: Archie Baines, Jack Thompson, Jack Croxley, of the Experimental Farm; Capt. Wilson, Pete Warren, Robt. Hastings, Chas. Hastings, Don White, Bert Lake, Ray Woodbridge, Geoffrey Vantreight, Fuss Davis, Wm. Matlick, Rex Combs, William Paynter and Alex Main of T.C.A.

Irish Evangelist Is Heard by Brentwood Audience

Thursday evening, Feb. 15, in the Women's Institute Hall, residents of Brentwood listened with interest to "Irish Evangelist" Joyce speak on "War or Peace". A vivid picture taken from a page of life in England portrayed war as it really is, and in the same manner reviewed the wars and peace of 2,500 years as predicted by the prophet Daniel.

History was compared with predictions and illustrated by a railway trip of Rev. Meyers in England. As Rev. Meyers' confidence was established in the train system by an up-to-schedule performance, so confidence can be a living experience in the Bible time table. He read from the Bible that there is but one "station" more — the kingdom of peace.

Congregational singing, quartets, and solos were arranged by Vance Buhler. Next week, same time, same place the Irish Evangelist will speak on: "Will Russia Gain World Supremacy?"

same ratio of interest as adopted for the apportionment of the assets and liabilities. Each party should be obliged to give suitable guarantees that these provisions will be complied with during at least the next 20 years, covering all contingent obligations and benefits which may arise.

One contingent liability is connected with the municipal gravel pits located on the Keating Cross Roads in Central Saanich. One of these pits has been excavated much closer to private property than is, I believe, allowed by law and as a result of land slides there is a contingent liability of a law suit for damages being instituted by the property owner or owners.

Further, the other adjoining municipal gravel pit may be quite valueless and also constitute an additional contingent liability if it has been excavated beyond the legal limits allowed. An independent survey should be made immediately to establish the actual facts before the Board's recommendations are completed.

With regard to the valuation of the assets to be divided, an independent firm of appraisers, acceptable to both parties, should be instructed to appraise the value of all assets on the basis of present replacement values less depreciation of used assets. On no account should cost price, less depreciation, be considered as the assets concerned are in the vast majority of cases, located in the Saanich Municipality which also has an 88½ per cent interest in the value of these assets. It is understood also that these assets are to remain in the Saanich Municipality.

In consequence of this situation it is essential in the interests of justice both to the Central Saanich Municipality and the Saanich Municipality that the equity of each area concerned be determined fairly and independently.

The only satisfactory manner to ascertain the fair value of an equity in any assets at any given time is to have them independently appraised as indicated above. To facilitate such an appraisal it may be desirable to restrict the appraisal to items of over $1,000 value. The values of smaller items could be agreed upon without difficulty.

Each and every asset without any exception belonging to the whole of the Saanich Municipality immediately before the separation in December, 1950, should be considered and divided by the Board in its recommendations as they were all mutually owned at the time of separation.

Among the assets which should be independently appraised and divided should be the following: Water Works—Excess value of assets over liabilities. (Book value $933,209. Appraisal value would be higher.) Surplus in water works sinking fund $11,000.

The water works have been assisted from the general revenue and the liabilities for outstanding debentures will remain with the Central Saanich Municipality until these debentures are paid for. The original debentures were, I understand, voted on by the whole of the Saanich Municipality and therefore the whole of the municipality mutually owns these water works regardless of which part of the municipality was served and regardless of where any profits in this mutually-owned enterprise were made. Consequently the Central Saanich Municipality is fully entitled to receive its 11½ per cent share of these water works assets. It should be pointed out that the water works department is part of the Saanich Municipality and not a separate legal entity, such as a water works district.

Water Main Gift—Presented by the government to Saanich and running from Royal Oak to the observatory.

Cost of Sewer Survey from general revenue funds pending passage of a by-law which has not yet been passed.

Reverted Property values and profits account.

Street Lighting System paid for out of general revenue.

Parks in Municipality on which general revenue has been expended as well as government funds granted to the municipality.

All School Sites and Buildings existing throughout the entire Saanich Municipality at the time of adoption of the Cameron Report creating school districts.

Further regarding an independent appraisal as set out in the beginning of this letter. Such an independent appraisal will effectively help to enable the municipal councils of both Central Saanich and Saanich to accept the findings of the Apportionment Advisory Board and adopt same by agreement. The wish for such an agreement was expressed by the Minister of Municipal Affairs in his letter of instructions, dated September 8, 1950, addressed to Mr. Crouch, the chairman of the Board.

It appears that the Board has been proceeding on incorrect principles, one being in holding its meetings in secret. Another, being the setting of itself up as an appraisal board when not one of its members appears to possess the necessary experience to value the complexity of assets found in a municipality.

Two of the Board's members are directly interested in the objecting of the best values for the particular area which they represent. Such a partisan appraisal board can only result in a series of bargaining "horse deals" with little or no regard to the present replacement values of the assets under consideration.

Also, the making of minor adjustments in the asset values after obtaining interested experts' opinion as to values particularly when these experts are employees of one of the interested parties which has an 88½ per cent interest in the assets and intends to retain the physical possession of the assets, is a very highly improper procedure, and does not indicate adequate protection of the 11½ per cent interest held by Central Saanich which will be compelled to accept a cash payment in settlement of its equity in the assets. Your early action in bringing the contents of this letter in its entirety before the Apportionment Advisory Board prior to the completion of its recommendations will be greatly appreciated. As this letter is dealing with a matter of serious and vital interest to every ratepayer in the Municipality of Central Saanich will you please advise me by letter of its delivery to you. A copy of this letter is being sent directly to the Minister of Municipal Affairs for his consideration.

Yours very truly,
THE CORPORATION OF THE DISTRICT OF CENTRAL SAANICH.

VALUABLE EQUIPMENT

A VERY valuable piece of equipment has just been added to the Sidney Volunteer Fire Department. It is a modern inhalator and it is always ready for use in any emergency. Such equipment is effective in early treatment of patients suffering from near drowning or gas poisoning.

Installation of the inhalator is still another indication that the volunteer brigade is striving to keep up to date in its methods and equipment. All firemen are being trained in its use and it can be delivered to the scene of a near tragedy rapidly.

Those requiring the urgent services of the inhalator can summon it in exactly the same manner as the fire department is called to battle a fire. A telephone call to the Sidney exchange will result in an immediate response. The person making the call should state to the telephone operator, however, that the inhalator is required and not the fire-fighting equipment.

No charge will be levied by the fire brigade for the use of the inhalator and the personnel to operate it. It's purely on a voluntary basis, just as are the other services of the brigade. But donations to help pay for the general operation of the brigade will be more than welcome at any time.

Sometimes we wonder if all residents of this area are fully aware of the outstanding service provided day and night by our volunteer firemen. Their organization is a first-class one in every detail.

FRESH, CLEAN WATER

SEVENTH annual meeting of the Sidney Waterworks District has been written into the record. At present over 700 water services are furnished with adequate supplies of fresh, clean water by this organization. Of this 700, approximately 40 attended the annual meeting.

If water users of this district had anything seriously to complain about in regard to their water supply, it's quite certain that they would attend the annual meeting and voice their objections strenuously. The fact that attendance was so low, is a proof that the public is well satisfied with the service they're receiving.

One familiar face will be missing from the board of trustees in the future and another familiar one will appear. G. E. Goddard, former chairman of the board, has made a valuable contribution to ensuring a proper water supply for this district. He should not drop from the picture without some mention of the valuable service which he has rendered to his fellows. His successor on the board, W. E. Oliver, also played an active part in the organization and development of the district. His counsel will unquestionably be of value in the deliberations of the board.

IT'S WORTH CONSIDERING

WHO'S interested in bowling? Lots of people if we are to judge from the interest shown in this healthful game in many parts of Canada.

A community bowling centre, consisting of four alleys, is the suggestion of a North Saanich businessman. He's got his eye on these quadruple alleys and hints that they could be purchased at a very reasonable figure.

Some organization would be required to bring to fruition this bowling alley plan. And some donations of good, hard cash would be another requisite.

North Saanich boasts lots of aggressive, community-minded organizations. Would one of them like to take this venture under its wing?

Bowling is extremely popular in many centres. The ladies are attracted to the game perhaps in even greater numbers than the men. Leagues embracing old people, young people, males and females, hard workers and retired gentlemen are operated enthusiastically.

The Review feels that a properly operated bowling alley would be a definite asset to this area and pay its way as well.

AMBITIOUS LEGISLATION

FROM the eastern shores of the Atlantic-washed Maritime provinces to the coastal plains of the British Columbia mainland, and the fertile valleys of Vancouver Island, the predominant occupation of Canadians is farming.

Every fluctuation in the ledger of the farmer is reflected in each industry, that occupies the rest of the country. There is not a man, woman or child in the country who is unaware of the significance of the word, farmer.

It is a strange circumstance that despite the nationwide call of the plow, the alternative title for the farmer is a loose expression that has little or no meaning outside the group that uses it. At no time in Canada has the word "agriculturist" been defined in law. Neither does Canadian law recognize the meaning of an article of produce labelled "agricultural product." These two words have been defined in Britain, but in Canada, although widely used, they have not been accepted into legislative terminology.

The Central Saanich Council, a local government body of only several weeks' seniority, has turned its attention to this detail. On the recommendation of Captain C. R. Wilson, prominent Central Saanich farmer and officer of the B.C. Bulb Growers' Federation, the council laid aside its multitudinous tasks for a period while it considered the definition of agriculturist.

Capt. Wilson, after carefully considering the term, in company with his colleague of the federation, suggested that an agricultural product is the living product, animal or vegetable, of sun, water and soil. The same source defines the agriculturist as the producer. The council delayed acceptance until the definition had received the approval of the municipal legal adviser. The wording may yet be changed slightly. It is, however, a far-reaching legislative move for the young council. In view of the ever-increasing popularity of the terms it is a move that might well be followed by legislative bodies of wider powers than are vested in the five men of Central Saanich.

The Review's Book Review

"THE FAR LANDS," by James Norman Hall; Little, Brown & Company; 298 pp.

In the beginning of time the world was populated by a race of demi-gods. Gifted with immense strength and limited supernatural powers their appointed duties were the raising of islands in the Great Sea of Kiwa. The demi-gods became obsessed with their strength and spent their time fighting and destroying each other, while their tasks remained uncompleted. Finally, only Atearagi, his wife, Haka-Hotu and their two sons were left. Their sons were Mano-the-Strong and Tumua-the-Witless.

Realizing the terrible result of their fighting, the survivors hurriedly left home and fished for land. Tumua was only interested in destruction and for a time he broke to pieces the lands which Mano brought from the bottom of the sea. While this fighting was in progress, Haka-Hotu gave birth to two more sons. They were Tavi-the-Jester and Maui-the-Peaceful. Their strength was unequal to the task of raising lands and they spent their days in travelling the Great Sea. Tavi painted pictures of phantom islands and Maui had the gift of always finding his way across the water.

In due course the only demi-gods left were these two. When Tavi died he warned Maui that his purpose in life would be the guidance of the humans, who were to come, to the lands of Tane, across the Great Sea. To achieve this task he would be granted the gift of immortality, and the lands of Tane would be known by his name.

When the humans were sent to populate the earth they split into two main factions. There were the worshippers of Tane, to whom human life was sacred, and the followers of Koro, the god of war, to whom life was nothing and who demanded human sacrifice.

The followers of Tane spent generations crossing the southern sea of Kiwa, searching for the Far Lands of Maui. This book covers a period of about 60 years, from the time of the Tongans, or followers of Tane, finding the land of Kurapo to their discovery of the Lands of Maui.

It is the story of Maui, named after the demi-god, and Hina, the daughter of a Koro chief. It is the story of their arrival at Rapa Nui, better known as Easter Island, after 52 years of sailing their primitive craft across the Great Sea of Kiwa. It is the legendary story of one of the great seafaring nations of the world.

Perhaps it is entirely legendary. No man can wholly refute it, for none knows whence came the Polynesian peoples of the southern seas of the world.

Sandwiched between Darwin's Species and a modern novel, The Far Lands might well be difficult to enjoy. Read without the influence of modern scepticism, it is a pleasing and an attractive story. It holds much of the beauty that was the gift of Tavi-the-Jester.—F.G.R.

At 8 a.m. a very large glass of chilled orange juice was placed in our hand. At 9 a.m. breakfast—grapefruit cup, cereal, a whole banana, a roll, butter and marmalade, mushroom omelette and coffee. Later, curiosity took me back to see how and where such delicious meals were prepared. In a tiny stainless steel space about 2 by 4 feet meals for over 40 people are turned out. All food is brought aboard precooked or frozen, a small electric oven thaws or re-heats the food. Boiling water for coffee comes aboard in huge thermos jugs. The two stewardesses must have a lot of credit for serving so many people in a short time. It is almost magic.

By the time breakfast was over, the sun was quite high in the heavens, and so brilliant one could not look out the windows without dark glasses. As far as the eye could see it looked like a huge glittering snow field below us. The cotton candy texture of the clouds had changed and they looked solid enough to stand on. The sky above was clear as crystal and very very blue. Occasionally there would appear a break in the clouds and we would catch a glimpse of the sea far below. During the morning I had an opportunity to go up front into the instrument lined quarters of the captain and crew. The business of flying a plane looked terribly complicated to me and I remarked this to the captain—he said "nothing to it, I'd sooner do it than paper the kitchen ceiling any day."

At 11 o'clock beverages were served—either alcoholic or fruit juice. At one o'clock snacks. On a plane trip there is no need to put your hand in your pocket, everything is included in your ticket.

Smooth Flight

From the time we left San Francisco right through to Honolulu we seemed to travel on a very straight course, smooth as silk and not a bump. The first and only glimpse of land came one-half hour before we landed—at this time the well-known Diamond Head appeared through white clouds, then the island of Oahu itself. It looked like an emerald set in a silver lace doilie. We landed without the slightest jar at 3:45 p.m. Honolulu time which is two hours ahead of B.C. time.

We were met at the Airport by the soft caressing Hawaiian breeze and a C.P.A. official who presented us with leis. Apparently everyone has one of these fragrant necklaces of flowers placed over their heads upon arrival and departure from the island. There were several varieties of flowers, white tuberoses, pink, white and red carnations and roses. My lei was deep pink roses and very very fragrant. I was sorry when it faded.

climbing. It was like going up in an elevator in long smooth swoops.

Didn't Use Them

Shortly after our take off the mechanics of life jackets were explained to us. As the stewardess finished the demonstration she said: "we only carry these jackets as a precautionary measure, we have never had occasion to use them—yet." As this was my first plane trip I could not help thinking of that 12,000 feet of unsolid air beneath us. This uneasy feeling was of short duration, the big plane went on its way smoothly, with about the same sensation as of riding on a swiftly-moving bus. Occasionally we struck a rut or pot hole in the sky road but on the whole we rode without many bumps. It was hard to believe we were travelling around 200 miles an hour.

At 10 p.m. our two attractive stewardesses served late supper. Although we had dined well about 5 o'clock we found ourselves hungry enough to eat with enjoyment. The trays and dishes were of colorful plastic, the food good. Delicacies in the trays held the dishes securely. We had shrimp cocktail, salad and a roll, a square plate held the entree—cold ham and breast of chicken on crisp lettuce; there were garnishes of jumbo olives, stuffed celery and pickles. Dessert was a pineapple sundae, and there was excellent coffee. There was even an after dinner mint in a wee depression of its own. When our trays were removed we were told of a stop-over at San Francisco about two hours hence. There was still only darkness outside my window—travelling so high I thought I might get a close-up view of the man in the moon. Perhaps he was asleep with a black blanket pulled over his head.

About 1 a.m. we began to drop "downstairs" and the lights of San Francisco came into view. From our vantage point we might have been looking at a display of a Rajah's jewels spread out on black velvet.

The International Airport was impressive only for its size—miles of hangars and hundreds of planes. We were glad to leave at 3 a.m. as the waiting room was deserted except for our fellow passengers, there was not even a coffee bar open.

Two Naps

In the air once more most of the passengers removed their shoes, reclined their seats, wrapped themselves in their blankets and prepared to sleep. The restraints, comparatively, was not quite enough leg room for perfect com-

World's Fastest Motorcycle

A standard British motorcycle is all tuned up ready to smash the world's two-wheel speed record. R. W. Dearden, a Manchester motorcycle dealer, has prepared a 998 cc. Vincent "Black Lightning" for an attempt on the world record in Germany next spring. He plans to travel at a speed hitherto unattained on two wheels.

The engine is boosted by a supercharger, adding 40 b.h.p. to its 90 b.h.p. The wheel base of the machine has been lengthened so as to bring the centre of gravity forward, thereby keeping the front wheel on the ground when travelling at 170 miles an hour. A made-to-measure riding position will enable Mr. Dearden to lie almost horizontally along the bike.

Within the last fortnight the machine has been running at a little over 100 miles an hour in low gear.

I did not expect to sleep but I did catnap. Once when I awakened I discovered the blackness outside had changed to midnight scintillating stars, and I could see the tremendous silver wing of our plane. The next time I woke dawn was breaking. The sky was a clear lucid blue and below us great drifts and billows of white clouds with the texture of cotton candy. Behind us on what seemed to be the rim of the world, a faint coral pink was beginning to show. As I watched the color deepened to flame and long fingers of color reached out into the sky. As the hours passed confidence increased in our big plane with its four smoothly-purring engines and in our good-looking pilot up front.

At 8 a.m. a very large glass of chilled orange juice was placed in our hand. At 9 a.m. breakfast—grapefruit cup, cereal, a whole banana, a roll, butter and marmalade, mushroom omelette and coffee. Reflections From the Past

20 YEARS AGO

Annual meeting of the Sidney Association of Guides and Brownies was held in the Guide and Scout hall on Tuesday. Election of officers resulted in the following appointments: president, Mrs. Goddard; vice-president, Mrs. Turnbull; secretary, Mrs. Le Vack; treasurer, Mrs. Skinner; badge convener, Mrs. King; captain, Miss I. Goddard; lieutenant, Miss J. McMillan; Tawny Owl, E. MacDonald.

INFANT MORTALITY DOWN

London, England, bettered its infant and maternal health record in 1950. Infant deaths were 25 per 1,000, compared with 27 in 1949 and 60 prewar. Deaths of children under four weeks old were 16.5 per 1,000 in 1950, 17.5 in 1949 and 24 prewar. 0.56 per 1,000 mothers died in childbirth compared with 2.51 per 1,000 prewar.

The whist drive and dance held last Friday evening at the Centre Road schoolhouse, Sidney, under the auspices of the North Saanich local of the United Farmers of B.C., was not the success anticipated. This was probably due to poor weather conditions. Winners were: Mrs. Lorenz, Miss Munro, Miss Munt, Sid. Humber, L. Wellington and Mr. and Mrs. L. Ricketts.

donor was not announced. A further donation of a tank truck will be made shortly, he announced.
"The council is like a married couple starting up housekeeping," said the reeve, "we are in a very difficult financial position." He was emphasizing the value of such donations.

The reference to housekeeping cropped up again in the discussion of the trades license by-law.
The council was asked at a previous meeting to define the terms
"agricultural" and "agricultural product." Capt. C. R. Wilson, representing the B.C. Bulb Growers' Federation, had suggested "a living product, animal or vegetable, of sun, water and soil." Council observed that it could be applied, loosely, to children. It was decided to call for legal advice.

Ganges High Hosts North Saanich Teams At Basketball

Six basketball teams from North Saanich high invaded Salt Spring Island for a series of games with the Ganges high teams. Games were played at the Fulford Community Hall under the supervision of Miss O. Mouat and J. Foubister. Ganges took four of the games while the visitors had to be content with two victories.

Ganges Junior girls won the opening fixture by a 17-12 score. For the home team Shirley Sylvester was high scorer with 10 points while Barbara Mitchell and Leola Mitchell were responsible for the majority of the North Saanich points.

North Saanich Junior boys evened the match count when they outplayed Ganges 24-12. Peter Young with 17 points proved to be a tower of strength for the winners and high scorer for the day.

Anne Nicholson and Pat Peterson garnered 18 points between them to lead the Ganges Intermediate girls to an easy 29-2 victory over their guests.

The Intermediate boys' game proved to be a close one with the lead changing hands several times. Laurie Goodman and Jim Milner counted for 16 points for Ganges to give the home team an 18-15 win. For the losers Norbury, Stockall and Bickford turned in good performances.

Ron Pearson and Dave Christ-Jan of the North Saanich Senior boys with 10 and 7 points respectively did their best to bring their team out in front in the best game of the day but Pat Crofton with 11 points and B. Jackson with 6 always kept the Ganges team in the running and helped them to emerge as the winners, 23-21.

North Saanich Senior girls made certain of their match by running up a substantial first-half score, 15-1, and then protecting it through the second stanza to win handily by a 20-6 count. Esther Bertelsen, Ellen Bertelsen and Margaret Sheppy were the pick of the winners.

Lunch was prepared and served by the Senior girls of the Ganges teams, assisted by Miss Mouat and Miss Williamson.

Miss N. Harrison and Messrs. Lott, Inkster and Breckenridge accompanied the teams from North Saanich.

it's time we got working mad

As we read about the latest tricks of Moscow and her Communist puppets, we're likely to get fighting mad.

Instead, we'd better use our heads and get working mad. For there's still a pretty good chance that we can lick the Communists with more work instead of more blood. Here's why:

It is clear by now that Stalin and his gang respect just one thing—strength. Behind the Iron Curtain they've been building a huge fighting machine while we were reducing ours.

Now we are in grave danger. We must rebuild our defences—fast.

As things stand today, there seems to be only one way to prevent World War III. That is to re-arm—to become strong—and to stay that way!

This calls for better productivity all along the line. Not just in making guns, tanks and planes, but in turning out more civilian goods, too.

Arms must come first. But we must also produce all the essential civilian goods we can at the same time. That is the challenge—because a needless shortage of civilian goods will boost prices and make our dollars worth less.

We can do this double job if we all work together to turn out more for every hour we work—if we use our ingenuity to step up productivity—to find the short cuts. Canada can do it!

All of us must now make sacrifices for the common good. But we're working for the biggest reward of all—peace with freedom!

"... AND THAT'S HOW we built the School"

It's the biggest contract I ever went after, so I lost no time in getting over to my bank manager.

"George," I said, "I'll need some help to handle a job this size."

We went over the whole thing, discussed how much I would need. When I landed the contract he gave me a line of credit and I was able to go right ahead. Now the school's as good as built.

It is an everyday part of your local bank manager's job to provide short-term credit—so that payrolls can be met, material bought, goods produced and marketed.

The art of transmutation

Spurred by dreams of great wealth and power, alchemists of long ago frantically searched for a method of making gold in the laboratory. Fantastic chemical mixtures and processes were tried—all to no avail. Only in recent years have the dreams of the alchemist materialized. By subjecting platinum to neutron bombardment, gold can be produced in the laboratory. Because of the low yield and high expense involved, however, it is unlikely that gold produced in an atomic pile will ever replace that obtained in the conventional way. We are unable to make gold in our prescription department, but the medicines carried here are more powerful than all the gold in the world. We are prepared to help you when sickness strikes.

The Wise Gardener

Notes From Saanichton Experimental Station

We occasionally have, what is for us at least, a very cold spell during the winter, when all our hopes are dashed for bringing through spinach and lettuce to provide extra early spring cuttings. Under such conditions one can provide covering in the form of straw or any handy litter, but only on a limited scale.

What can always be done, however, is to give more attention to suitability of variety for the purpose in mind. For example, the Great Lakes type of lettuce, is proving its popularity over a wide section of Canada and the United States.

On looking over a planting on the Station recently, we find that for the third time in as many years, Great Lakes has not proved hardy, and therefore it cannot be recommended as a suitable sort for a fall sowing.

On the other hand, the butter head type is much hardier, and the English variety, Imperial, is suggested as being an excellent prospect for fall sowing. Other varieties in the same general class, and possibly more readily available, are All the Year Round and May King.

Spinach is hardier than lettuce, but here again differences are found between types. The savoy leaved type has been found less hardy than the smooth leaved kinds, and sowings of this type should be reserved for spring and summer. Giant Nobel is suggested as a good variety for mid September to early October sowing in order to provide an early May cutting.

The first signs of spring bring forth a great variety of suggestions. Among other things that the gardener and the farmer can both expect to hear a lot about are the wonders of new chemical fertilizer mixes, especially those which contain many of the minor elements.

These will be marketed under special trade names, and a very convincing story will be told of the wonderful quality of crops grown with these new formulae.

If you are lucky, the story will go, you will not only get increased quality, but you will get increased yields. You can be assured that you will pay an increased price for these minor element mixes.

In B.C. there are three agencies which make specific recommendations on fertilizers. These agencies are composed of federal, provincial and university workers in their respective departments of agriculture.

These committees are known as the B.C. Fertilizer Board, The C. Agronomy Association and Regional Subject Matter Coordinating Committees. None of these bodies recommend the use of minor element mixes for either garden or farm use.

There are few instances where there may be a minor element deficiency. If it is known that there is such a deficiency, then make a single application of the necessary element. This is the practice that is followed in the Okanagan orchards in applying boron. Why pay more when you can buy for less?

Experiments reveal that precooling or storing of spring flowering bulbs at 48°F. for four to six weeks which is normally done with bulbs in the dry state before planting for the purpose of advancing the greenhouse flowering date, can also be achieved just as readily and even with some advantage in regard to earliness and quality by flattening the bulbs when precooling commences.

In experiments with Wedgewood iris and William Pitt tulips for example, this year's results show that slightly earlier flowers and longer stems were obtained from bulbs which were planted at the time precooling temperatures commenced. A glance at Table 1 shows a comparison of results from the two methods.

Precooled dry 4 to 6 weeks, then planted (normal method 1)

Precooled, commencing when planted (method 2)

Date first (and last) flower cut

Wedgewood Feb. 4 (Feb. 8) Jan. 28 (Feb. 7)

Wm. Pitt Feb. 2 (Feb. 9) Jan. 31 (Feb. 5)

Average stem length (inches)

Wedgewood 27.0 28.2

Wm. Pitt 15.8 19.1

Percent Grade 1 flowers

Wedgewood (stems 28" or longer) 30 04

Wm. Pitt (stems 12" or longer) 05 05

At the moment the above results are regarded as more of academic than practical interest, but to the greenhouse grower who has sufficient precooling space of his own to accommodate the greater capacity required by flats of method 2, the latter offers certain, even though limited advantages.

SUN OF CANADA'S 1950 BUSINESS LARGEST OF ANY CANADIAN LIFE COMPANY

Policyholders' Dividends Again Increased

Four hundred and forty-one million dollars of new life insurance was issued by the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada in 1950, the largest amount written by any Canadian life company during the year, and over $68 million (18.4%) more than the total for the preceding year. The volume of new insurance written during 1950 was greater than any of recent years and represents the substantial total of $1,736,000 for each working day. George W. Bourke, President of the Sun Life, in releasing the 80th Annual Report announced a further increase in policyholders' dividends effective April 1, 1951, bringing the total amount payable this year to more than $18 million.

Distribution of Business:
The international character of the Company's business is illustrated by the amount of insurance and annuities in force in the various countries where the Sun Life operates: Canada 41%; United States 38%; Great Britain 12%; other countries 9%.

Mr. Bourke, in his review of the year, discussed the value of life insurance in the fight against inflation, and pointed out that life insurance premiums, while serving to provide protection for individuals and families, also add to savings which, in turn, benefit the nation as a whole through investments for essential purposes. The business of life insurance reflects the voluntary co-operation of the millions of men and women whose confidence and faith it enjoys. In return, the companies have established traditions of service and integrity which are outstanding in the annals of human endeavour.

Steps Against Inflation
Mr. Bourke offered five suggestions as important counter-moves against inflation: (1) Purchase only what is necessary. (2) Increase productivity by greater efficiency and maximum effort. (3) Finance defence and other necessary national expenditures on the pay-as-you-go principle. (4) Avoid wasteful government expenditures and duplication of services. (5) Increase personal savings.

A copy of the Sun Life's complete 1950 Annual Report to Policyholders, including the President's review of the year, will be sent to each policyholder or may be obtained from W. C. James, Local representative.

Impressive Figures In Annual Report Of Sun Life Assurance Company

The 80th annual report issued by the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada reveals that in 1950 the company wrote new life insurance policies amounting to $461 million of dollars. This is an increase of $68 million over 1949. As an interesting indication of how individuals are increasing their savings and protection by means of life insurance policies with Sun Life, it appears that the average policy written in 1950 was for $4,460, as compared with an average of $2,680 ten years ago. William C. James, All Bay Rd., Sidney, is the representative for the Saanich Peninsula.

An upward trend in interest-earning power on the assets of the company is seen in the fact that in 1948 the rate of interest earned was 3.30%, in 1949 it was 3.48% and in 1950 the rate earned was 3.61%. Another increase in policyholders' dividends effective April 1, 1951, was announced. For each working day the Sun Life wrote $1,736,000 in volume of business.

Enormous Payments

Each 24 hours of working day this company pays out approximately half a million dollars. These payments come to families when the need is greatest—protecting the widow and the orphan, safeguarding homes in the event of the loss of the wage earner, taking care of the aged, providing for contingencies arising in business where key men are removed by death, giving security through group plans to industrial and office workers and their families and fulfilling other purposes for which it is so eminently suited.

Life insurance has great value in the fight against inflation. The premiums while serving to provide protection for individuals and families, also add to savings which, in turn, benefit Canada as a whole through investment for essential purposes. Many people purchased policies during 1950 because of the increased cost of commodities pointing to the greater need for insurance protection.

George W. Bourke, president, pointed out that life insurance is unique in that it provides the only means for the immediate creation of an estate for the protection of one's dependents. The function of a life insurance company is to furnish its product and its service on the soundest possible basis and at the lowest possible cost. These responsibilities have been recognized and for generations, in spite of wars, epidemics, inflation and deflation, life insurance has met its obligation.

THE REVIEW'S MARKET LETTER

(By H. A. Humber, Ltd.)

Little change took place on the New York exchange during the past week. It was interesting to note how the sales volume dried up on any tendency for the market to sell off and showed a marked increase on the up side.

Toronto continues to make new highs in selective issues.

Abitibi at $60 announced a 3-for-1 stock split and the new shares will probably go on a regular dollar dividend basis.

Massey Harris announced a 5-for-1 split; the stock rose to 65. The new shares are expected to pay 12½ cents per quarter. This would mean about four per cent. Extra dividends must therefore be expected.

LEGION SPONSORS CARD PARTY

The Canadian Legion sponsored a very successful cribbage party in the Mills Road Hall on Monday, Feb. 15, under the able management of William Stewart.

Door prize, an electric iron, was won by Mrs. McGrath; Mrs. M. Thomson won a picnic ham as tombola prize.

Ladies' first prize went to Mrs. M. Moulton, second to Mrs. F. J. Allen, and consolation to Miss W. J. Brown. Gent's first was won by W.O. V. H. Nicholson, second by Mr. Sarup, and consolation by W. McCallum.

Lunch was served by members of the ladies' auxiliary.

The entertainment committee announced a dance to be held at Mills Road Hall on Saturday, March 3.

Scarcity of Eggs Advances Prices

Poultry market report as supplied by the Dominion Marketing Service, Vancouver, follows: egg prices advanced two cents per dozen on all grades on the market here this week.

With receipts through registered stations showing a continued decline and carlot arrivals from prairie points limited to about three weekly, the supply situation with the majority of operators is quite tight, which was further aggravated by train transportation stoppage, due to rail damage by storms the past week. Considerable jobbing among dealers has been necessary to even out available supplies.

Sales through retail channels are being maintained at a fairly high level, while the shipping movement to northern and Alaskan points is moderate.

The live poultry receipts are generally light. Fowl volume is barely sufficient for needs. Broilers are in fair supply, while heavy chicken is short. The movement of broilers to Alberta by refrigerated trucks is continuing. One carlot of American chickens arrived from Chicago last week. Retail sales are steady.

Celluloid, the first plastic, was developed in 1869 on a wood pulp base.

There are more than 4,000 uses of wood today.

Oh Brother!

You really pay through the nose to drive a car in B.C.! You pay new car taxes and registration fees... 10c Provincial Tax on every gallon of gas plus Federal Sales Tax... a fee for the re-examination of your driving ability—and a semi-annual car checkup charge! Right now you're being taxed for your driver's license five years in advance—another $5.00 bite!

And your car license? Don't you agree that $10.00 would be plenty for the average size car... $5.00 enough for a four cylinder car license—instead of the exorbitant price you pay now? What can be done? The only effective voice that can speak for ALL motorists against excessive taxation is your Automobile Association.

Fill in and mail to your local member of the Provincial Government.

I believe B.C. taxes on automobiles and motorists are completely out of line, and that action should be taken now to secure relief from the present administration's tax policy.

People in every walk of life are finding benefit in Personal Planning — and many of them have written to tell us how they feel about it. All agree on one point in particular: the need for Personal Planning in these days of high living costs.

WHAT IS Personal Planning?

Personal Planning shows you how to live within your income and enjoy it.

Tall order? Not as tall as you think. Personal Planning faces facts. One, that you have to live within your income. Two, that you must have a budget-plan that works for you, not you for it. Three, that a budget-plan — to work — must be your budget-plan, planned for your needs by you. It must fit your individual circumstances.

And Personal Planning goes one big step further. It shows you how to enjoy life within your income, by helping you to plan and build on what you have.

You can only be happy today if you're not worried about tomorrow. Pick up your copy of "Personal Planning" today. It's yours for the asking at any branch of the B of M. There's no obligation . . . except to yourself.

"Small houses can give people big ideas!"

"Sounds funny, I know. But this house might have given you the same idea I had — if you'd been in my shoes the other day."

"I'd just dropped around with my son Bob and his family to see how their new house was getting on. It seemed to me to be just perfect for them. Cute, trim and practical. But small. There certainly wouldn't be room for anyone but them."

"Suddenly the thought hit me — What if I had to move in with them because I didn't have enough to live on after I'd retired?"

"Then and there I resolved never to let that happen. Sure, there may be plans for paying old-age benefits to everyone someday. But I'll need extra income to make sure that I'll be completely independent. And the best way to get it is by increasing my life insurance."

"That plan seemed so logical I wondered why I hadn't thought of it before. And when I saw my agent I discovered how flexible life insurance can be — how it fits my own needs and my wife's need for protection."

"So now I'm building security for myself and my family the best possible way — with life insurance!"

GENERAL PEARKES DISCUSSES STAND OF CANADIAN LEGION ON CONSCRIPTION

Major-General G. R. Pearkes, V.C., of Saanich, member of parliament for this district, addressed the house of commons on February 14 on the subject of Canada's defence. In his speech, General Pearkes supported the government's stand that conscription for the reserve army and other forces is not desirable at this time.

General Pearkes is a member of the Saanich Peninsula branch of the Canadian Legion. As the subject of conscription for the reserve forces has been a live one in Canadian Legion circles recently, The Review is pleased to publish a portion of the General's address from Hansard in which he mentions the Legion stand:

"It has been mentioned during the course of the debate that the suggestion was based upon the recommendations of the Canadian Legion. I am a member of the Canadian Legion, and have been from the day that it was formed. I have spoken to branches of the Canadian Legion in my constituency. I have congratulated them upon focusing public attention upon the urgent needs for improving our defence forces. I think it is a splendid effort that the Legion has made by sending from one coast to another notices of its 'operation preparedness' and of holding meetings of its members, communicating with members of parliament, and in some instances holding public meetings in order to focus attention upon the needs of this country to increase the state of defence."

"Remember also that this Legion brief, this operation preparedness, was drawn up and issued and the majority of these meetings were held before the government had announced its program for defence. I do not know what the Legion would say now; I have had no communication with them; but I think the Legion would expect that the government is going to implement many of its recommendations."

"The first of these recommendations is that there should be what the Legion describes as national registration. It says:

"Nothing can be done to organize efficiently the resources and manpower of this country until a complete national registration has been carried out and proper assessment made of the information gained."

"In view of the time necessary to conduct such a large-scale project and to interpret the results, it is vitally necessary that this be started immediately."

"Everybody will agree with that. I know I can subscribe to that, and I have said that I subscribe to it in every detail. I believe it is necessary that the government carry out a review of its manpower resources. I should like to see that review of a very thorough nature. I do not think that there is any time to be lost. In my opinion that review should canvass the whole country to decide where national registration boards can be set up and who are the people to be on them; to draw up some uniform questionnaire which these boards would ask of young men. I should like to see it go even further than that. Some form of preliminary medical examination should be held so that if it became necessary for the government to change its form of finding its personnel for its force it would have all that material. As far as medical examinations are concerned, although a second one would have to be carried out, it could be done far more expeditiously than if no preliminary survey had been made."

"I cannot help thinking that the Canadian Legion, the country as a whole, and this parliament, will expect this manpower committee, which the government has set up, at least to explore and see how far it could go in making that review of the manpower of our country. The very fact that the deputy minister of national defence has been named as a member of that committee indicates at least that the government does intend to show how the armed forces requirements will fit into that over-all picture. I feel very keenly that this parliament will hold the government responsible for seeing that that committee does a thorough job."

"The next recommendation of the Canadian Legion deals with the mobilization of industrial resources for defence production. Here again it says:

"If this situation is allowed to continue, it can have only one ultimate result—our hastily mobilized forces will not only be poorly trained but will be tragically lacking in equipment when faced with an enemy thoroughly prepared for war, and Canadian lives will be needlessly sacrificed on the altar of procrastination."

"We have heard already during this session of parliament of the setting up of a new department of defence production. The people of this country will hold the government responsible for seeing that this department does a thorough job. And if it does a thorough job, then this second requisite of the Canadian Legion will be complied with."

"The third is that of compulsory training in the reserve forces. I do not go with the Legion as far as that, and I do not believe the Legion branches would have subscribed wholeheartedly to that program if they had been asked to submit this after hearing the government's program for raising the forces that are considered necessary to be in being."

"As I have already said, if we adopted this compulsory service in the reserve forces, and as the Legion frankly admits there would be many difficulties in the way. It may be argued—and I do not think any members on this side of the house would have the right to argue it—that it would be necessary for the government to provide the extra money to carry out this program, that it would go ahead with its present program utilizing the $5 billion in the next three years, and that it would go to the country and ask for, shall we say, an extra $2 billion—I do not think that figure would be excessive—in order to enable the putting into effect of the Legion's recommendations. But if such a suggestion were made the amendment would have been ruled out of order."

"I have said that I do not think it is advisable to have compulsory universal training in the reserve army within the amount of money to be provided by the government. I repeat, I feel that it would deter and distract attention from what I believe is the main effort that Canadians should be making in this situation, namely to create forces in being ready at a short time to meet a rapidly deteriorating world situation."

But even if the government did feel that it was prepared to advance large additional sums of money, by making available such large sums to take care of this compulsory training in the reserve forces, I doubt very much whether that would be the right way to expend the additional funds."

WOMEN'S CIRCLE PLANS ACTIVITIES

Fourteen members were present at the February meeting of the South of Beacon circle of the W.A. United church, for an evening session at the home of Mrs. A. O. Berry, Friday, Mrs. Martman presiding.

Much enthusiasm was expressed in the discussion of projects for the coming year.

The hostess served a delicious supper assisted by Mrs. Chappuis and Mrs. Henselwood.

The Intermediate Players group entertained the North Saanich high school on Wednesday noon at an excellent program, proceeds of which went to swell the Umbrella fund for the Solarium.

Karl Wylie followed with his "Table of Magic" and for 15 minutes had coins disappearing, ribbons flowing out of empty boxes, and a series of metal rings doing everything but talk much to the mystification and gratification of his audience. The play presented by the group suited the day as it was entitled "Valentine Special." Guy Roberts and Bob Gilbert as two advertising specialists, Messrs. Jones and Bones set out to convince the males that a breakfast cereal, "Crunchies," would make excellent Valentines for wives. The "wives" played by Linda Taylor, Nancy Shillitto, Nonnie Eckert,

PICKLES CALLS FOR CO-OPERATION BETWEEN TWO MUNICIPALITIES

The published statement of Reeve Joseph W. Casey, of Saanich, that the Central Saanich Council are neglecting "the life and property" of its ratepayers and that "they are not doing their duty to the people of Central Saanich to throw the fire protection overboard" brought an immediate reply from Reeve Sydney Pickles of Central Saanich.

Reeve Pickles said these unjustified charges made by the reeve of a neighboring municipality are most unethical and entirely untrue.

"Our Central Saanich Council is not neglecting the lives and properties of the ratepayers and it has not thrown fire protection overboard. On the contrary, we now have 60 volunteers enrolled for our Volunteer Fire Department, and only a few weeks after the inauguration of our municipality we have a quantity of fire protection equipment ready for use."

"In the meantime we have an arrangement with the Sidney Volunteer Fire Department which has two trucks now in operation pending the building up of our own Volunteer Fire Department.

Tough Bargain

"Reeve Casey, supported by the Saanich Council, tried to drive a tough bargain with us, while we are at a temporary disadvantage, by demanding a $12,000 service charge to provide Central Saanich with fire protection during 1951. This would have covered the much vaunted limited temporary period of protection at $50 per week."

The reeve of Saanich is apparently irked because Central Saanich balked at being called on to pay such a heavy service charge, suggested Reeve Pickles. For $12,000 the council can purchase a fully equipped fire truck and operate it for a year and still have about $3,000 left over for other purposes, added the reeve.

"As reeve of Central Saanich I have made every sincere endeavor to co-operate with the Saanich Council on a conciliatory basis, but without avail. The file of correspondence on this matter proves the statement."

Reeve Pickles then cited various records of letters and discussions which had bearing on the disputed fire protection.

"It is to be hoped that this statement will clear the air and that there will be an amicable business co-operative relationship between Saanich and Central Saanich," concluded Reeve Pickles.
